

The kingdom of heaven may be likened to a king who gave a wedding feast for his son... 'Tell those invited: "Behold, I have prepared my banquet, my calves and fattened cattle are killed, and everything is ready; come to the feast" ' " - Mt 22:2, 4bc

Your generosity is needed!

From now until Tuesday, October 13th, we will be collecting gently used parka style winter coats for men, women, and children to share with Street Soldiers of Troy. Parkas may be dropped off at the church at Mass times or brought to the rectory office between 9am and 1pm Monday-Thursday. Please do not bring dressy coats or windbreakers and do not leave parkas at the Church entrances.

Thank you!

Pastors Blog

I am on my computer visiting the "world wide web" several times a day and I still have no idea how it works and, to be honest, I still have no idea even after I have read the dictionary definitions of what the "world wide web" is several times. The mystery behind it does not prohibit me from using it or benefiting from the opportunities it affords.

In our reading today, we hear the words from Isaiah: "On this mountain he will destroy the veil that veils all peoples, the web that is woven over all nations; he will destroy death forever." (Isaiah 25:7) This refers to a world-wide web that entraps or ensnares all of humanity much like a spider web that might capture its prey. The mystery behind this does not keep me from understanding the danger it entails.

On this mountain, the love of God will free us to come together not 'virtually' but spiritually. The complete text reminds us that a feast is being prepared where all our invited and welcomed. When we entangle ourselves in prejudice and fear, resentment and hatred, we are actually reinforcing the bonds that keep us apart. Our faith in Lord Jesus calls upon us as disciples to not just enter the feast but to call forth others to join in the celebration.

In the coming weeks we will be expanding our presence on the internet and I invite you to encourage others to join us. If you do not have a computer yourself, or you know of someone who doesn't, perhaps you could ask people to connect with their smart phones and share this important aspect of our community life. As we look for ways to open more widely, please join us in the ministries of welcome and hospitality. Now more, than ever, people are looking for a place to call home and our parishes can provide that. Indeed our parishes must provide that.

I was struck by a community that gathered together, miles from home, this past Sunday. Our Confirmation Candidates from our various churches joined together at our Mother Church, the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception. We were welcomed and supported by a host of people representing the Cathedral parish itself and the Diocese. Our Confirmandi came forth and introduced themselves to the Celebrant, the Very Reverend David R. LeFort, and were welcomed into a special Sacrament that brings them to a special place at the table.

I was such a proud parent as I saw our communities come together and I felt the closeness that reminds me of that day when, "The Lord of Host will provide for all peoples..." (Isaiah 25:6a) We were blessed that day and the blessings will continue to pour forth upon the families present and all those whom they touch. I would like to share with you a prayer I adapted after finding it somewhere on the "world wide web":

Holy Spirit, strengthen our newly confirmed with Your gifts of Wisdom, Understanding, Counsel, Fortitude, Knowledge, Piety, and Fear of the Lord, as disciples of Christ. Fill them with the joy of your presence. Increase in them the fruit of your Spirit. Help them to experience and trust your dwelling within, so that they may count on your guidance today and every day.

Show us the way to help one another become better disciples of Jesus Christ, sharing your love with our world and with each person we encounter.

God bless you and your families, and we offer special prayers to our newly confirmed, their sponsors and families!

Fr. George
